"LOOK AT

Welcome back to another exciting year at the Webb! This was a year of change and steps forward. Our school went from a college to a full scale university. This was also the year of one huge freshman class, the beginnings of a lake, and a new and improved Lindsay building. The school of Divinity and more Graduate programs were added. What more could we Bulldogs ask for? We've got it all, we're moving ahead!!!

Gardner-Webb University
A Dream Come True

Students returned to school last fall to Gardner-Webb College, but are leaving this spring from Gardner-Webb University. The official name change occurred on January 1, 1993 and since then students and faculty/staff have been making the necessary changes to show that we deserve the new title.

Along with our new title came the addition of the Noel Hall, Lake Hollifield, new masters programs and a school of divinity. These additions complement an already well established graduate program, led by Dr. Darlene Gravett. Dr. Larry Gregg and Dr. Bob Lamb will lead new programs in the divinity school.

The leadership of Gardner-Webb UNIVERSITY does not want this to be a superficial change. Instead, it wants for Gardner-Webb to realize its full potential. From a history that begins well before 1905, this high school — junior college — college — university has served it community and students well. The future should be as bright as the past, and this is the dream come true.

Christian values remain central to our school.

Gardner-Webb celebrated "the ties that bind" at Homecoming '92. Alumni and students enjoyed a week-end full of activities that began with an alumni dinner and concluded with the Homecoming dance. Our football team came from behind and walked away with a 34-17 victory over Catawba. Lauren Lee was crowned Homecoming Queen during the half-time festivities with Lynn Roberts as her Senior Attendant. Fran Mabery, Crystal Higgins and Shannon Reese also served on her court of attendants.

Curtis Gibbons

"Curt smiles at the slightest provocation, making him a very pleasant person to approach. He has the first requirement of an effective communicator, and he works hard at the process!" says Dr. Bill Stowe, Chair of the Communications Department. Curtis' most embarrassing moment at GWU was when he ran over a one-way sign in Shelby because someone ran him off the road. "It seemed everyone from the school passed by and saw my car." Curt hopes to become a photographer or writer once he graduates from Gardner-Webb University.

Curt has already served as photographer for a major federal agency and done an internship at a radio station.

His prospects for the future look good, and he looks forward to his first job in the field. If determination has anything to do with it, he will be quite successful.

Laura Sharpe,

A talented member of the music department, Laura has kept herself busy with concert choir, show choir, and being an accompanist. She has also been a Resident Advisor in Stroup residence hall. The things Laura will remember the most about GWU are the friends she has made, the music faculty, and the influence both have made on her life to make her who she is today. After graduation, Laura plans to marry Jonathan Turner and both will attend seminary.

Marlene Kimble

Marlene is a Psychology major. She admits that she is not as shy as she used to be since attending GW. Marlene plans to go on to graduate school at UNC-Charlotte to obtain her masters. She hopes to find a job as a child psychologist, counselor in either Charlotte or Atlanta. Marlene will be remembered as being friendly and helpful to the people she associated with and to those who knew her.

The profession she has chosen is an extension of her personality. It is likely that she will continue her helpfulness and concern for others in her professional life. Many will benefit from her education and care.

Ben Moore

Ben is a Social Science major. His most embarrassing moment at GW is when he lost an entire fifteen page term paper for Dr. Eastman on his word processor the morning it was due. Ben then had to go to Dr. Eastman and face the music.

Ben is currently applying to law school and hopes to practice law back home in SC. According to Dr. Yelton, "Ben says very little, but when he speaks, it is usually worth listening to him. There is one thing that worries me about Ben; how does an honest, soft spoken, intelligent man hope to become a successful lawyer?"

Wendy has been very involved at GW with Alpha Chi, Presidential Associates, Junior Marshall, and a member of the Honors Program. Wendy admits that the biggest change in her life while attending GW is that she has matured a great deal, learning to live on her own and handle her time and own financial affairs.

"I have learned how to fit into the real adult world." Wendy would like to be remembered for her ability to pull through hard times even when there is no hope in sight. After graduation she plans to get a temporary job to save money for medical school.

Aimee Stewart

Independent, friendly, ambitious, determined and outgoing are just a few ways to describe Aimee, or Aimeealoosa as she is affectionately called by her friends. She sees the biggest change in herself is that she came out of her room and she has definitely come out! She has been an active member of the Student Government Association in the office of Student Entertainment Association chairperson. "Aimee has been an outstanding SEA chair. Her high energy and enthusiasm has given way to quality entertainment. Aimee's secret is she likes to have fun," says Audrey Sloan. She has also been a Big Sister, SNCAE — SNEA President, writer for the Pilot, and Senior Resident Advisor in H.A.P.Y. Aimee was voted to the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. Her Elementary Studies major is quite fitting for someone who is striving to be a better person, because she will encourage her students to do the same.

Joan Caudle

"A small package of dynamite," is how Nell Griggs described Joan. The best thing that has happened to Joan while she was a student at GWU has been learning more about physical education, and working with children from North Shelby, the Senior Games, and the Special Olympics. She has been an active member of BSU, FCA, SAC, F.O.C.U.S., the Lunch Buddy program, the PEHEM Club, the Soccer Team, Worship Committee, Young Life, RHA, and President of Stroup Residence Hall. Her competitive spirit, spunky attitude, and constant jokes ensure that there is never a dull moment when she is around.

Jerry Cholette

Jerry's most embarrassing moment at GW was when he dropped his tray in the cafeteria and everyone was there.

Jerry has been involved with the Gospel Choir, Lunch Buddy program, Special Olympics, and Men's Basketball. The best thing that has happened to Jerry while he has been a student at GW has been joining the Gospel Choir. "It always lifted up my spirit when I was down."

After gradution, Jerry hopes to own his own computer business. His drive — on and off the court — should make the difference in his life.

Who is energetic, fun to be around, and always has a smile on her face? Melissa Lee, that's who. This busy person is a talented volleyball and softball player, and Stroup Resident Advisor. She admits she has gone through a lot of changes since her freshman year. The biggest change is that she has become more independent instead of following her friends. After graduation, she plans to be a biology teacher, volleyball and softball coach. Melissa's skill and creativity in both the classroom and in her sporting activities make her unforgettable to those who know her.

Thad has been involved in PBL. the World Trade Resouce Club and SIFE. Thad will always remember his business professors who told him it "would" be. "They did not sprinkle any sugar on my overflowing bowl of Grape Nuts."

Julieann says that the best thing that has happened to her while she was a student at GW is "that I have made many friends with professors and students." "Julieann's personality, her spirit, and her desire to help in any way she can, are in my opinion "warm fuzzies" much needed in the world today and on the GW campus in particular," says Dr. Cullinan. Julieann would like to be remembered as a young woman she loved God and shared his love with others. After graduation, she plans to work in a church with children and youth.

Karen has been very busy at GWU with BSU, FCA, F.O.C.U.S., SNCAE-SNEA, and of course our own mascot, Lulu. Karen's cheerful spirit and kind heart have brightened many days for those around her. She is one of those people who never sees a stranger. Karen is an Elementary studies major. Her qualities will make her an excellent teacher. She plans to teach in N.C. or S.C., after graduation. Karen says the best thing that has happened to her during her years at GWU has been meeting the Christian friends she has now. Jason Tyler Crook

Jason says that the thing he will remember most about GWU is "without a doubt the people; we are fortunate to have such a diverse student body at this institution. I have made many life long friends in my years here." He admits that he has changed quite a bit since his freshman year, "all for the better of course." Jason's leadership qualities, adorable smile, great sense of fashion and most definitely his incredible dance moves have made such an impression on people that he will be one of the things many of us will choose to remember about GWU. Though the fields of filmmaking and exotic dancing have been suggested, Jason plans to obtain an MBA with a concentration in marketing, after graduation.

Edward J. Faille Jr.

Ed, who always delivers, says he has grown up a lot since his freshman year. "I feel older and ready to jump into the real world." Ed has been a very involved student leader here at GWU. His activities include Student Senate, class President during his junior and senior years, Judicial Appeals Committee, President and Attache of the World Trade Resource Center Club, Co-chair of the Special Events in the Student Entertainment Association, and has been placed in the Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges. An Industrial Management major, Ed plans to attend graduate school and become a successful businessman. His unpredictable and spontaneous personality is one thing that makes him standout in the minds of his friends.

Harrison B. Dean

Harrison came to GWU as a transfer student and quickly became an active member of our student body. He serves as President of the Student Alumni Council, Chairman of both the Senior Campaign and the Student Involvement Committee, and on the publicity committee of the Transition Team. Harrison has been selected as a member of the Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges. He also has participated in the Intramurals program. "Gardner-Webb and the people that keep it alive have taught me a priceless lesson . . . leadership." A business major, Harrison plans to become extremely successful.

Daniel Priddy

Daniel says his most embarrassing moment at GW was "asking my now wife, Cathy Bratton, to dance with me before I knew her and getting turned down." Daniel admits that the biggest change that has occurred in his life while attending GW is becoming more dependent on himself, rather than others. Daniel wants to be remembered as being a strong Christian and hopefully making a difference in someone else's life. He also wants everyone to know that he has a better wiffle ball curve than Mark Ackerman. After graduation, Daniel plans to get a job at RJR Nabisco in Winston-Salem.

Abdul Asghar

"Eager to learn, outgoing in personality, inquisitive by nature, Abdul seems to be everywhere on campus at once," says Dr. Gravett. Abdul is an accounting major who has been very involved at GWU. He served as a Big Brother, a Resident Advisor, President of the International Students Club, a senator at large, and writer for the Pilot. An interesting fact about Abdul, he speaks three languages and reads two. He says the best thing that has happened to him at GWU is the privilege to have met the "best, most outstanding faculty of all time." Abdul says he would like to be remembered as "the debonair, cultivated, intellectual foreigner who took the campus by storm."

In Memoriam
Gloria Dione (Dee) Allen
Died — November 27, 1992

"Dione, I'm gonna miss you,
From now on,
But I've accepted the fact,
That you have a better home.
A home that is so beautiful for a person like you,
I hope you'll tell Jesus all the things you can do.
Nurse a patient, be a friend, trust in his hands,
and never hurt again."

NUPTIALS

Richard is terribly upset, because he can only get daises for Mrs. Gordon's wedding decorations.

Caroline's sister Kitty does not approve of the "tacky" dress her sister has chosen for the wedding.

Mae-Ella tells Caroline of her own personal views about men and their good and bad qualities.

The Gardner-Webb Theatre proudly presented "NUPTIALS" by Judy Simpson Cook. They did an outstanding job of describing how much chaos one can encounter while trying to plan a wedding. It was both creative and entertaining because of the way each person portrayed his or her character. The play also caught an emotional side with the realization of letting a loved one grow up and get married.

The Theatre is directed by Mr. John Brock. He has a strong background in drama through personal experience with directing the Charlotte Theatre, Wake Forest University Theatre, Greater Shelby Community Theatre, and many other professional acting and directing jobs. One of Mr. Brock's strongest desires is to set up a scholarship fund to attract outstanding drama students to the school.

The Gardner-Webb Theatre has come a long way in a very short time. Attendance has increased with over 6,000 people attending plays during the 1991-92 season, and more than 150 people were involved in production.

Other plays that were planned later in the season include the following: "WIZARD OF OZ, FESTIVAL OF ONE-ACTS, and LION IN THE WINTER." There was also an AWARDS SHOW planned to announce those individuals who received awards for the season to commend them for excellence in their roles.

BULLDOG BITES

Sometimes the little wounds hurt the longest, as the Fighting Bulldogs reminded their opponents this season. Gardner-Webb, though a small university from a small town, sunk its teeth into every game, and the scoreboard reflected it. With the exception of the first and last games, these 'Dogs' won every contest! They were at the top of their game, leading the conference in virtually every statistical category.

To have a big bite you must know where to attack. For two hours every day the players sharpened their teeth in practices and training. They developed fast-scoring offense ("run and shoot") and a rock-solid defense. According to junior defensive lineman Todd Felkel, the main priority for this year was to achieve team unity.

Both offense and defense have come together this year. With talented freshmen and a pack of 15 seniors who have honed their game to perfection, the Bulldogs anticipate an even bigger bite in the coming years.

The season ended in a national championship game that slipped away in the last 36 seconds. After fighting hard and dominating the play, the Bulldogs watched Central State "fumble" its way into the endzone for the winning score. The 5,000 fans were stunned, silent in their disappointment, but they demonstrated their admiration and respect for the team, Coaches Fish, Anderton, Parker, Unsworth, and others who made the playoff possible.

There is an anticipation of what is to come for the following seasons. Sophomore linebacker Cory Headen advises all Bulldog fans to "keep an eye out for Gardner-Webb in the future. We're going to get better. The team is young."

Gardner-Webb defense de-claws a Lees-McRea Bobcat during the game played on Hall of Fame Day.

SWINGING FOR SUCCESS

The Ladies' Tennis Team started the fall season off extremely well with a 6-3 win over UNC-Asheville. This was a big accomplishment, because UNC-Asheville is a Division I team. Then, the girls went on to play Belmont Abbey and had another 6-3 victory!

The team was led by returning seniors, Dee Pollard and Shelley Henderson. The coach of the Ladies' Tennis Team is Brenda Halford. She stated, "My goal for the season is to improve last years record, and I feel confident that the girls will achieve this."

Kings of the Mat

From November to March, Bulldogs rule the mats. Wrestling — a sport of skill, agility, and sheer determintion — separates the kings from the cowards. Gardner-Webb was definitely considered royalty.

Wrestlers must have a great amount of self-discipline to maintain their weight class for 5 months. To do so they lift weights, monitor their diet, and run. Success is not easy. But by sweating through the grueling practices and individual training the Bulldogs reign. When the anticipation of competing became the satisfaction of winning, Gardner-Webb wore the crown of victory.

Coach Dick Wince takes much pride in Bulldog Wrestling. Last year he had 5 national qualifiers, and this season he anticipates more. With a group of talented athletes as well as competitive scholars, Coach Wince noted that, "This is the hardest working group since I have been a part of the program." As their royal domain is recognized, the Bulldog Wrestlers may truly be called, "Kings of the mat."

In Loving Memory . . .

Ernest M.
Blankenship
1927-1992

Mr. Blankenship wrote often about death, most recently about his mother. He said that "the soul reaches out" in times of distress "to find hope again."

Death took Earnest quickly, quietly — just as he was planning retirement and just after a visit to his beloved England, but, as he said of his mother — he "led a simple life, and trusted in The Lord."

We have never had among us a man with as good a heart, a man as kind in spirit, as Earnest Blankenship. He is missed.

Gardner-Webb has represented many different things to its students and faculty over the years. It is Gardner-Webb who has stood for many things to many people in its lifetime. It is the place where romances blossom, lifelong friendships are formed, and treasured memories are created. As changes occur in each of us from experiences shared to lessons learned, Gardner-Webb has experienced many changes during the years. Some of them have been quite spectacular. One of the biggest changes has been the transformation from a college to a university this year. The additions of the Noel Hall and the Master's programs in Divinity make the progression from college to university even more exciting.

Change is not always something we expect. This year brought two very unexpected changes, the loss of Mr. Enrest Blankenship and Dione Allen. Mr. Blankenship was an extraordinary teacher and friend to his students and colleagues. His caring nature is evident in his poetry. Dione was a kind, gentle person who was loved by everyone who knew her. The loss of these two wonderful people changed the lives of many, but we can say we are better people for having known them.

The caring faculty and staff, smiling faces, and friendly hellos are what make Gardner-Webb such a special place. Being a student here has taught me things that I know I could not have learned anywhere else. My professors and the friends I have made play a larger role in my life. All of my professors have been great, but I have to say a special thank you to a few of them.

Dr. Eastman, thank you for giving me that extra push to make me reach a little higher and for encouraging me to do my best. Thank you for leaving your door open, especially during those times when it seemed like I lived outside of it.

Dr. Partin, thanks for listening and laughing with me.

Mr. Carscaddon, thanks for making me speak out in class like I do outside of class. The two of you have influenced me to finish my psychology major, so you have not seen the last of me just yet.

Audrey, thank you for being there for me, believing in me, and filling in as "Mom" to all of the gang.

Last, but certainly not least, Dr. Stowe, thank you for sticking by me and giving me this chance. Working with you has been a pleasure but, you may need a new answering machine next year. I think I may have worn yours out.

The friendships I have built will last a lifetime. To the gang, you are wonderful friends and terrific people. To my roommates, thanks for being great roomies and friends. J. Mark, I could not ask for a better best friend. Thank you for standing by me through thick and thin.

Gardner-Webb is a place that should be appreciated for the fine education it provides and treasured for the growing we do and the memories we create. I hope you enjoy this yearbook and remembering this year as much as I have enjoyed working on it.
